ABOUT MERIDIAN EXPERTS

Independent building consulting for property damage, repair scope, and cost.

Meridian Experts is an independent building consulting firm. We assess property damage, analyze repair scopes, review estimates, evaluate costs, and write technical reports that resolve complex building matters.

Our work starts at the building. We inspect the site, document conditions with drones and digital twins when warranted, review the relevant project documentation, and price the repair based on what the damage actually requires.

We serve insurance carriers, adjusters, property owners, and attorneys handling construction and property disputes. Our work is documented, defensible, and built to withstand scrutiny.

THE PRIMARY WORDMARK

Two versions of the primary wordmark are approved — one for dark backgrounds and one for light. The logo file is provided separately; place it inside the reserved areas below using the guidelines in Section 03.

On Navy (#25566E), Slate (#3C5666), or black backgrounds.

On Off White (#F5FAF5), white, or Ice Blue (#B0D3DF) backgrounds.

CLEAR SPACE & MINIMUM SIZING

CLEAR SPACE

Always leave a margin equal to the height of the "M" on all four sides of the logo. Never crowd the logo with text, graphics, or edges.

MINIMUM SIZE

The logo must never render smaller than the minimums below. If the space is smaller than the minimum, use the mark version only.

Digital / Web	120 px wide (wordmark)
Digital / Web — mark	32 px square (mark only)
Print	1.0 in wide (wordmark)
Print — mark	0.35 in square (mark only)
Favicon / App Icon	16 px square (mark only)

DO'S AND DON'TS

DO

Approved Practices

- Place on approved brand-palette backgrounds only
- Maintain the required clear space on all four sides
- Use the provided approved logo files without recreation
- Scale proportionally — never stretch or distort

DON'T

Violations to Avoid

- Do not change the logo colors or add effects
- Do not rotate, skew, flip, or distort the logo
- Do not place the logo on low-contrast or busy backgrounds
- Do not add drop shadows, outlines, or strokes to the logo
- Do not recreate the wordmark by typing it manually

THE PRIMARY PALETTE

Six primary colors cover 95% of all design decisions. Every color has one specific job. When in doubt, reach for the primary palette before anything else.

WHEN TO USE WHAT

HORIZON BLUE

The only interactive color

Every button, link, active state, and hover uses Horizon. No other color in the system should ever feel clickable. Keep it exclusive — that's how it earns trust as a signal.

DEEP BLUE

The authority color

Primary dark backgrounds: nav bars, hero sections, footers, dark-mode panels. Sets the firm's professional, forensic tone. Use it boldly and consistently — restraint in variety, conviction in repetition.

STEEL

The workhorse

All body copy, labels, secondary headings, non-interactive navigation, and icon fills on light backgrounds. Pairs with Off White for maximum readability. Never interactive.

GOLD / BRONZE

The premium signal

Reserved for rule lines on dark backgrounds, cover headers, and document-level premium moments. Less is more — gold loses its meaning if overused.

A THREE-FONT SYSTEM

Three typefaces, each with one job. Proxima Nova carries authority in display headlines. DM Sans handles everything else — subheads, body copy, UI, labels. Georgia Italic is permitted only for direct quotations.

The only permitted serif use. Never for headings, UI, or body copy.

HIERARCHY & SPECIMENS

Hierarchy is built from size, weight, and letter-spacing — never through color alone. Contrast size and weight aggressively; one heading should never look almost the same as another.

H1 · HERO	EXPERT ANALYSIS.	Proxima Nova · Bold 700 · All Caps · 44-60px · tracking +0.5px
H2 · SECTION	Independent analysis. Defensible numbers.	DM Sans · Medium 500 · 28-38px · Horizon color
H3 · CARD	Property damage assessment	DM Sans · Bold 700 · 18-22px · Sentence case
LABEL	COMMUNITY · EXPERTISE · RESULTS	DM Sans · Medium 500 · All Caps · tracking +3-5px
BODY	Independent analysis and defensible valuations for attorneys.	DM Sans · Light 300 · 14-15px · line-height 1.75
QUOTE	"The analysis was instrumental in securing the verdict."	Georgia · Italic 400 · 14-16px · Quotes only

SPACING & SCALING

All layouts use an 8-pixel base grid. Every spacing value — margin, padding, gap — is a multiple of 8. This is non-negotiable: it's how the brand feels organized without being noticed.

THE SPACING SCALE

XS	8px		Tight internal padding · icon gaps
SM	16px		Card padding · inline groups
MD	24px		Section padding · stacked cards
LG	32px		Section-to-section spacing
XL	48px		Major page divisions · hero padding
2XL	64px		Page-level margins · top of hero
3XL	96px		Landing page section rhythm

THE TYPE SCALE

Display	60 px	Hero (desktop)
H1	44 px	Page titles
H2	32 px	Section headers
H3	22 px	Card titles
H4	18 px	Inline subheads
Body Large	16 px	Intro paragraphs
Body	15 px	Standard body
Small	13 px	Captions · meta

BUTTON SYSTEM

Three button types cover every interactive need. Horizon blue is exclusive to buttons and links — no other element in the system should ever compete for attention as interactive.

HOW MERIDIAN SPEAKS

Every word is written for an attorney evaluating an expert witness. The voice is measured, technically fluent, and confident — never earnest, casual, or trying to impress.

THE VOICE

Meridian speaks the way its reports read: specific, documented, and restrained.

We name what we observed. We describe what was damaged, what needs to be repaired, what the work should cost, and why. We cite the documents that support the conclusion. We let the file carry the weight the language doesn't need to. We don't oversell. We don't marketize. We don't exercise authority — we document it.

20+ YEARS BUILDING CONSULTING & LITIGATION EXPERIENCE · EARNED AUTHORITY, NOT MARKETING CLAIMS

VOICE IN PRACTICE

The writing rules that produce on-brand copy. Apply this any time text is being set — reports, correspondence, web, marketing, or internal documents.

THE METHOD

Write like a building consultant writing a report after a careful site visit. Use the definite article. Use the noun. “The roof assembly.” “The flooring scope.” “The estimate line item.” Lead with what was observed, then what it means, then what the documentation supports. Keep qualifying language honest: “consistent with,” “supported by the site conditions,” “within the scope of this engagement.” Never use a word in marketing that a building consultant wouldn’t use in a report — and never commit a conclusion to the page we wouldn’t give under oath.

PREFERRED TERMS

Building consulting · Property damage assessment · Repair scope analysis · Estimate review · Cost evaluation · Technical analysis · Technical reporting · Aerial documentation · Building documentation · Construction observation · Litigation support · Expert witness services

AVOID

“Forensic” as a descriptor · “Trusted advisor” · “Turnkey” · “Cutting-edge” · “State-of-the-art” · “Innovative solutions” · “Digital transformation” · “For the attorneys who need it most” · “Counsel’s consultant” · “Built environment solutions” · “Boutique shop” · “Global platform”

BRAND IN THE WORLD

Three core touchpoints shown at scale. These are the reference templates for every new deliverable — if your work doesn't look like one of these, it's off-brand.

BUSINESS CARD

EMAIL SIGNATURE

WEBSITE HERO

USING THESE TEMPLATES

Request the master files for each deliverable type from the brand owner. Do not recreate these layouts from scratch. For any new application — signage, vehicle livery, presentation templates, social media — a brand owner must approve the design before it ships.

THE BRAND

Is Our Most Valuable Asset.

Every document, email, report, and deliverable that leaves this firm carries the weight of twenty years of earned authority. This system exists to protect that. Follow it, reference it, and when in doubt, ask.

01

APPROVAL REQUIRED

New marketing materials, external deliverables, signage, and any customer-facing design must be reviewed by a brand owner before release.

02

MASTER FILES

Request logo files, typography licenses, presentation templates, and document templates from the brand owner — never recreate them.

03

QUESTIONS

When a situation isn't covered here, pause and ask. The cost of a thirty-second clarification is always lower than the cost of fixing off-brand work.
